Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 29 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine at first, but some rain later. Staying cold.

Today:
A frosty, locally icy start to the day, with some hazy sunshine. Becoming increasingly cloudy with some patchy light rain and drizzle developing during the afternoon. A west to north-westerly breeze developing, and staying cold. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tonight:
It will be a cloudy evening and night with outbreaks of light rain and drizzle. Winds also strengthen. The cloudy skies will result in a milder night than of late. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tuesday:
Remaining windy and cloudy through Tuesday. The cloud will be thick enough for further patchy rain, this turning heavier and more persistent into the evening. Feeling milder than recent days. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Blustery showers on Wednesday, and colder again. Drier, brighter and less windy on Thursday before a band of rain and snow sweeps through overnight into Friday with further strong winds.
